Join us at La Colombe in Fishtown for a school funding briefing, and a chance to meet education advocate, Todd Carmichael, La Colombe's CEO and co-founder. Pennsylvania has one of the largest funding gap in the country between low-wealth and high-wealth school districts. Pennsylvania is also ranked 46th in the share of funding that comes from the state, leaving local taxpayers to take on rising costs. We are representing six school districts suing Pennsylvania legislative leaders to challenge this inequitable system. How did we get here? At the briefing, you will learn the basics of education funding and how it works in Pennsylvania, as well as ways you can get involved in advocacy for fully funded public education.

Presented by La Colombe
